Microwave Radiation

why you should remove it

from your home

If you have a phone mast like this near your home you could be in trouble if you don't take action.

Microwave Radiation is a relatively new environmental pollution that has increased exponentially since the birth of the mobile phone and wireless communications in general but in particular during the last five years.

“Once I realized what I was trying to sleep in I began to understand my own health for the first time in years”

Leading health experts around the world battle governments, already under the economic cosh who don't seem able even to consider that what is now the world's second largest industry could actually be hugely toxic. They prefer instead to rely on outdated and inappropriate guidelines, whilst refusing to acknowledge the mounting indisputable evidence of serious sickness around mobile phone mast installations. They accuse those even though they are in the majority that associate the nausea, headaches/migraine, memory loss, poor concentration, poor immunity, and insomnia with the phone masts in the vicinity of psychosomatic reactions.

LETS LOOK AT THE COMMON THEME FROM THE SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH AS IT COMES IN GLOBALLY

In 2002 Santini et al surveyed 530 people living near mobile phone masts and high levels of headaches, sleep disturbance, irritability and depression were found.

Abdel-Rassoul in 2007 reported residents living beneath and opposite an established phone mast in Egypt had significant occurrences of headaches, memory problems, depression and sleep interruption

Bortkiewicz 2004 reported circulatory problems, sleep disturbances, irritability, depression and concentration difficulties. The findings concluded the closer the proximity to the mast, the more severe the problems

Hecht and Balzer 1997: A huge review of studies concluded a vast array of health affects including insomnia and poor immunity.

Medical science in general accepts that poor sleep and therefore reduced melatonin production can result in many serious illnesses including Cancer. Until more research is carried out it would seem to make sense to take a precautionary approach in our bedrooms.

Why not try one of our stylish microwave reflective bed canopies
